

Geo-Art Research

Location: Goodrich, Michigan [GC6VNYD]

Theme (paste image to last page): Themed around a honeybee that's lost its way from the hive and is trying to find its way back

When Launched: 10/16/2016

Owner: Syfun

Cache Types (Number): puzzle 85 caches

Approximate Number of Visitors: 219 visitors

Cache Favorite Points: 18

Feedback From the Owner (Why / Workload): emailed multiple times with no response.

Selective Cacher Comments / Feedback

“There is no particular order you need to find the caches. Once you’ve made a few finds in the series you get a feel for how the hides are made and the containers used for caches.”

“This gear was well done and the puzzles were fun to do. The winding country roads were fun to partake in when finding these caches last winter”

“It has been awhile since we enjoyed some geocaching time together, so we decided today was the day to set out to start the Honeybee Series. Of course, we picked a cold day with snow on the ground. Having a duo helped - one to grab the cache, the other to act as a lookout and drive the getaway car. Had a chance to explore many roads that we'd never been down before. Regarding the caches - all were findable, although some digging was required and one was frozen down too hard to retrieve. Plenty of space on all logs. Thanks for getting us out of hibernation!”

A lot of comments saying TFTC Geocache term for Thanks for the cache

Additional Details (Geo-Art Image)

